

The 4th dimension of collaboration

Imagine what your business could achieve if your employees were able to collaborate more effectively.

With inspired collaboration, everyone contributes to something greater.

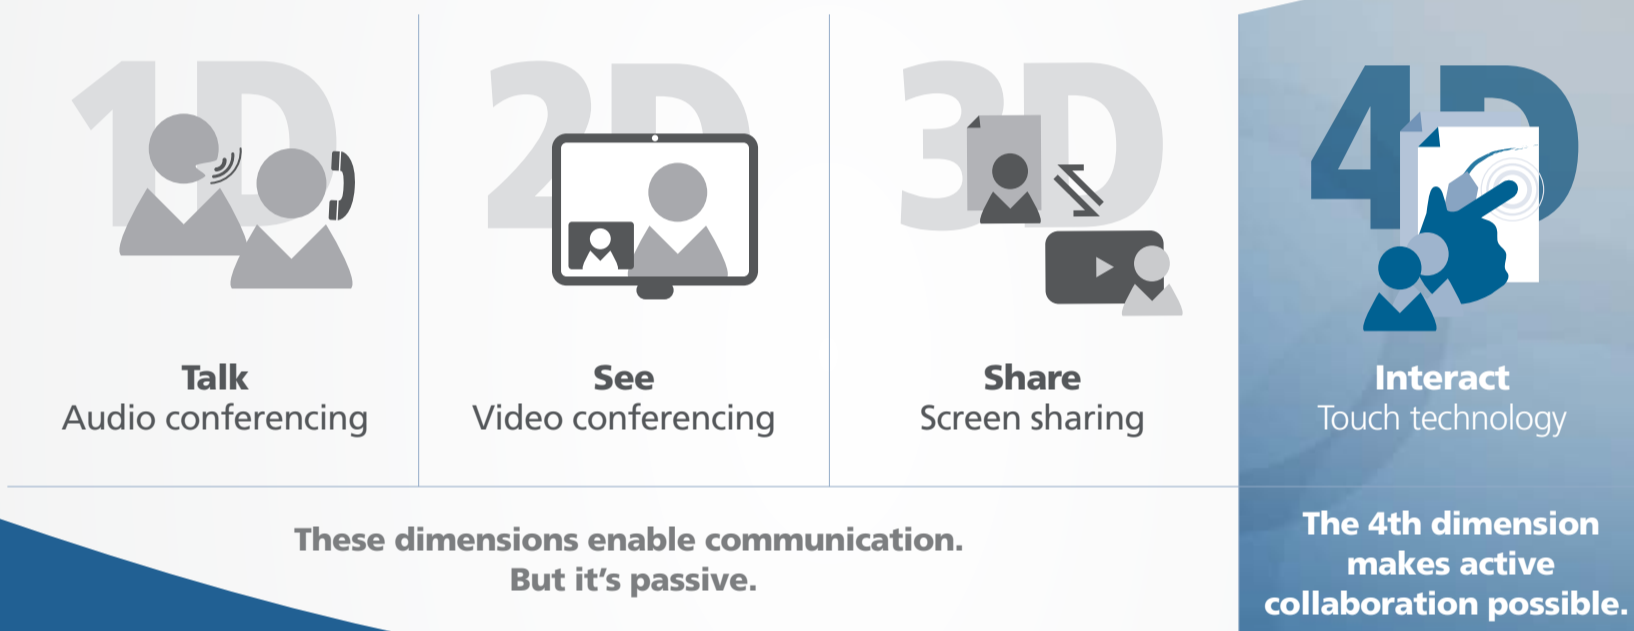

But most teams don't truly collaborate.

Meetings, for example, take up a lot of time.

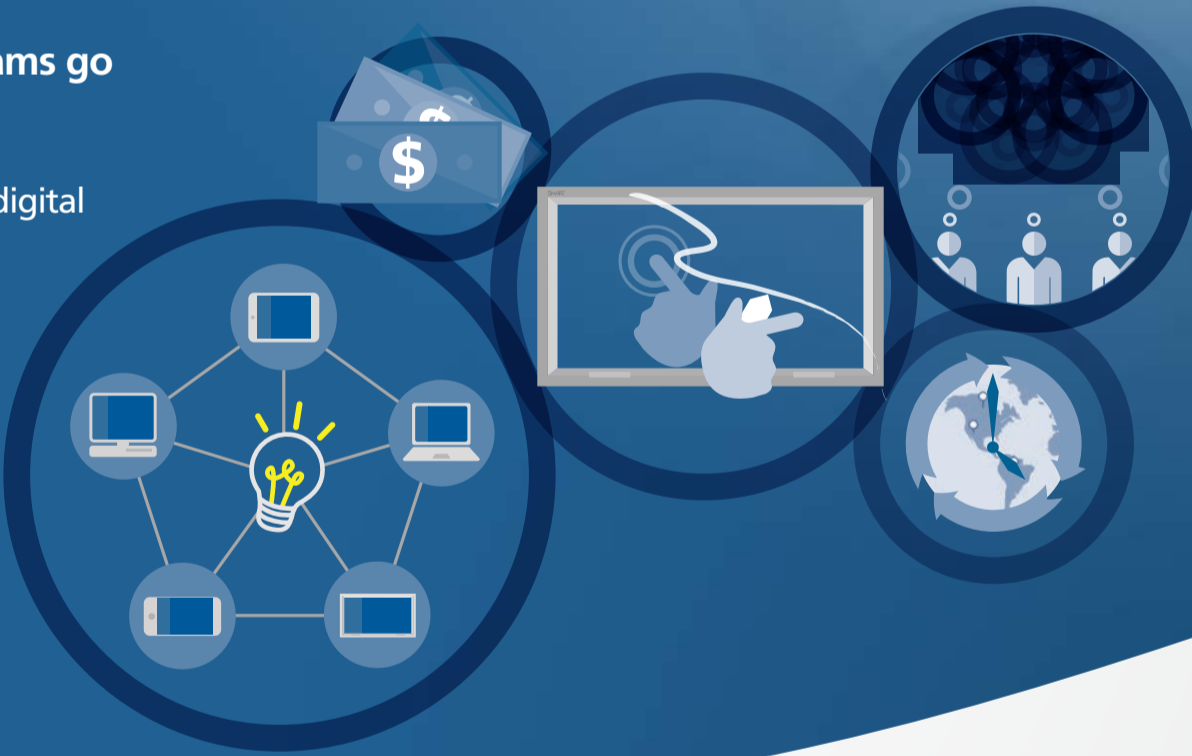

Are your teams spending that time working together and achieving the results you need?
Or are you missing something?

Traditionally, technology supports 3 dimensions of collaboration.

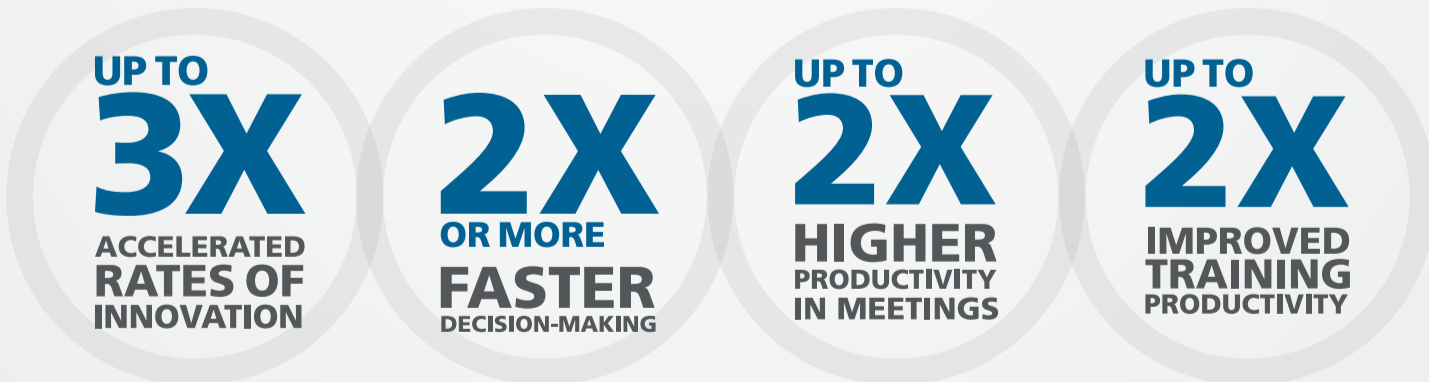

In the 4th dimension, teams go beyond communication.

They collaborate in a shared digital workspace, spontaneously drawing and writing over documents, building on ideas and creating something new and powerful, together.

In a 2012 study*, business people around the world described the value they were getting from enhanced collaboration:

*Source: Filigree research study on collaboration outcomes.

The 4th dimension of collaboration opens up a world where teams are fully engaged and everyone contributes to something greater.

Experience the 4th dimension of collaboration today.
smarttech.com/4D