New features

General

- Hardware acceleration enables SMART Notebook 11.1 software to complete some tasks using your computer's graphics processing unit (GPU) rather than its central processing unit (CPU). Hardware acceleration improves the performance of SMART Notebook software on most computers.
- SMART Notebook 11.1 software includes several enhancements that ensure it starts more quickly than previous versions.
- The SMART Notebook software menus have been reorganized to make them easier to use and more consistent across operating systems.
- SMART Notebook 11.1 software introduces the Add-on Manager, which enables you to install, enable, disable and remove add-ons.
- SMART Notebook 11.1 software introduces new preferences that enable you to do the following:
 - Enable or disable the shake gesture and the press-and-hold gesture
 - Enable or disable hardware acceleration
 - Change the measurement tools' color
 - Add cell padding to or remove it from tables

RELEASE NOTES

SMART Notebook 11.1 software for Windows and Mac computers

- The Full Screen toolbar includes two new buttons:
 - Page Width
 - Entire Page
- You can add the following buttons to the toolbar:
 - Cut
 - Copy
- When you resize an Internet browser in SMART Notebook 11.1 software, the Internet browser's content scales automatically so that you always see the entire web page that you're viewing.
- In SMART Notebook 11.1 software, all .notebook files open in Compatibility mode by default. Therefore, Reload File in Compatibility Mode has been removed from the File menu.
- SMART Notebook 11.1 software introduces new Help that includes several improvements.

Windows operating systems

SMART Notebook 11.1 software supports the Windows 8 operating system in desktop mode.

Mac OS X operating system software

NOTE

For more information on new features, see SMART Notebook 11.1 software new features (smarttech.com/kb/170422).

Resolved issues

General

- SMART Notebook 11.1 software introduces better support for copying and pasting, and dragging and dropping content from Microsoft Office applications.
- If you select a cell in a table, select a color from the Color selector on the toolbar, and then begin typing text in the cell, the Color selector menu closes as expected.

Windows operating systems

- When you fill a table with a picture, SMART Notebook software applies the fill to all cells.
- You can insert emoticons and other graphical characters into .notebook files using the Windows 8 operating system's virtual keyboard.

RELEASE NOTES

SMART Notebook 11.1 software for Windows and Mac computers

Mac OS X operating system software

- When you open a page that contains 3D objects in Full Screen view, your display doesn't flicker.
- You can use the accent pop-up feature introduced in Mac OS X 10.7 (Lion) operating system software with SMART Notebook software.

Known issues

General

- In some situations, SMART Notebook software pages might not refresh properly.
- While in Dual Page view, you might need to press or click an object multiple times to drag it from one page to another.

Windows operating systems

- SMART Board® 400 series interactive whiteboards don't support multitouch gestures on the Windows 8 operating system.
- Flickering lines appear when you attempt to take a screen capture of a SMART Notebook page with a 3D model using the Freehand Capture option.

Mac OS X operating system software

You could experience issues when using SMART Notebook software on a Mac computer with a Retina display.
